Contents

Editorial
Preview
John Wils Lloyd and William J. Therrien 6

Review
Are U.S. Schools Discriminating When Suspending Students With Disabilities? A Best-Evidence Synthesis 7
Paul L. Morgan, Yonggang Wang, Adrienne D. Woods, Zoe Mandel, George Farkas, and Marianne M. Hillemeier
Current literature is inconclusive about whether schools systematically discriminate against students with disabilities when it comes to discipline.

Original Research
Effect of SWPBIS on Disciplinary Exclusions for Students With and Without Disabilities 25
Nicolette M. Grasley-Boy, Nicholas A. Gage, and Michael Lombardo
Are students, including students with disabilities, less likely to be suspended and miss school when school-wide positive behavior intervention and support is implemented with fidelity.

Special Educators’ Working Conditions in Self-Contained Settings for Students With Emotional or Behavioral Disorders: A Descriptive Analysis 40
Kristen Merrill O’Brien, Nelson C. Brunsting, Elizabeth Bettini, Michelle M. Cumming, Maalavika Ragunathan, and Rachel Sutton
A representative sample of US teachers of students with EBD provides insight on their working conditions.

Involvement of Students With Severe Disabilities in Specialized Health Care Procedures 58
Sarah L. Ballard and Stacy K. Dymond
Students with severe disabilities and complex health care needs rarely fully participate in their specialized health-care procedures.

Efficacy of a First-Grade Mathematics Intervention on Measurement and Data Analysis 77
Tier-2 print- and technology-based intervention improves achievement of first grade students with math difficulties in measurement and data analysis.

Preregistration in Single-Case Design Research 95
Austin H. Johnson and Bryan C. Cook
Guidelines are provided on what to include in a preregistration of single-case design studies.