CONTENTS

651 “Have we ever been geologists?” Geology related images in textbooks for Portuguese secondary education (1836–1974)
Teresa Salomé Mota

671 “The center of the manual training movement in Germany”: die Deutsche Lehrerbildungsanstalt für Knabenhandarbeit in Leipzig, 1887–1914
Klaus Dittrich

694 The South versus the North, the Piarists versus the Jesuits: the educational dispute based on nature in the mid-eighteenth century in the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth
Joanna Orzel

703 The role of white supremacy amongst opponents and proponents of mass schooling in the South during the Common School era
Rebecca Weissman